Women in Engineering Scholarship (WIES)

Founded in 1821, we were the first Mechanics’ Institute in the world. We were also the first institution in Scotland to admit women into STEM programmes. Since opening our doors in Malaysia, we’ve made it possible for women in ASEAN region to gain access to quality teaching and learning in the field of Engineering. Committed to widening access, and reducing the gender gap in this field, we have developed this scholarship especially for girls who want to pursue a career in Engineering.

Applications are open for the following programmes:

- MEng Chemical Engineering with Oil and Gas Technology
- MEng Mechanical Engineering
- MEng Electrical and Electronic Engineering
- MEng Civil Engineering
- MEng Petroleum Engineering

Application Deadline: 13 August 2018
WIES encompasses four (4) core components:

PERSONAL DEVELOPMENT
Scholars will gain self-management skills, enhance self-awareness and self-esteem, improve presentation skills while having the opportunity to learn new ones; cultivate strengths, talents, emotional intelligence and lifelong learning.

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT
Scholars will be equipped with the necessary technical and non-technical skills to be industry-ready graduates.

LEADERSHIP DEVELOPMENT
Scholars will be empowered to lead and learn how to engage and manage people.

GLOBAL EXPOSURE
Scholars will be exposed to opportunities to learn about new culture and society, develop confidence and network with other female Engineering students.
