Appendix 4  Shared Parental Leave Flow Chart
1. INTRODUCTION

This Procedure, which is part of the proposed Supporting Family Life suite of procedures, sets out guidance on how to request and notify the University of your Shared Parental leave; the time off; keeping in touch; and returning to or leaving the University at the end of your Shared Parental leave. This Procedure applies to UK Campuses only.

2. PROCEDURES FOR SHARED PARENTAL LEAVE

It is your responsibility to confirm that you and the other parent are eligible for Shared Parental Leave (SPL) and Shared Parental Pay (SPP), and the period(s) of SPL and SPP which you and the other parent will be taking. Any abuse of this procedure (for example, if you provide false or misleading information) is likely to result in disciplinary action being taken in accordance with the University’s Disciplinary Policy.

Opt-In Notice

Not less than eight weeks before the date you intend your SPL to start, you must give the University a written Opt-In Notice in the form set out at the end of this Appendix 5. In the Opt-In Notice, you are required to confirm that you are eligible for SPL and give an indication of the dates of SPL which you would like to take. The other parent is also required to complete a short declaration. You may submit their Period of Leave Notice (described in more detail below) at the same time, or at a later date. Both the Opt-In and Period of Leave Notices must be submitted at least eight weeks before you want any period of SPL to start.

Evidence of Entitlement

Within 14 days of receiving an Opt-In-Notice, the University may request that you provide:

- in birth cases, a copy of the birth certificate. Where the child has not yet been born, this should be supplied within 14 days of the birth;
- in adoption cases, one or more documents from the adoption agency showing the agency’s name and address and the expected placement date;
- in surrogacy cases, a parental order, if available; and
- the name and address of the other parent’s employer (or a declaration that they have no employer).

If requested, this information must be provided within 14 days or you may not be able to take the period of SPL requested.

Ending maternity leave

Mothers must give at least eight weeks’ written notice to end their maternity or adoption leave before they can take SPL. Mothers should give this notice by specifying the date that their maternity/adoption leave will end in the Opt-In Notice.

Partners cannot commence SPL unless the Mother has:

- returned to work;
- given her employer notice that she wants to end her maternity/adoption leave (or her SMP/SAP if she is not entitled to maternity/adoption leave);
- given the benefits office notice that she wants to end her Government Maternity Allowance (if she is not entitled to maternity leave or SMP).

This means that a Partner can take SPL at the same time as the Mother is on maternity leave; provided that the Mother has notified her employer of the date that she wants her maternity/adoption leave to end before the Partner is due to commence SPL.

Period of Leave Notice
Once you have opted into the SPL system you will need to give the University a Period of Leave Notice, in the form set out at the end of this Appendix 5. This should specify your proposed start and end dates of SPL and SPP. This can be given at the same time as the Opt-In Notice, or it can be given later, as long as it is given at least eight weeks before your proposed start date of SPL.

Changing the Date of SPL
You can change a requested period of leave by submitting a further Period of Leave notice at least eight weeks before the change will take effect (e.g. at least eight weeks before the original and newly proposed start date). You can give up to three Period of Leave notices, and the initial request will count towards this total. A Mother may also cancel her SPL notice provided she does so within six weeks of the child’s birth or placement for adoption.

Where the child is born early (before the beginning of the Expected Week of Childbirth), you may be able to start SPL in the eight weeks following birth even though you are unable to give eight weeks’ notice. In such cases:
- if you have already given a Period of Leave notice to start SPL on a set date in eight weeks following the Expected Week of Childbirth, but your child is born early, you can move the SPL start date forward by the same number of days, provided that you notify the University in writing of the change as soon as possible. (If the Period of Leave notice already contained a start date which was a set number of days after birth, rather than a set date, then no notice of change is necessary.)
- if the child is born more than eight weeks early and you want to take SPL in the eight weeks following birth, you should submit your Opt-In Notice and your Period of Leave notice as possible.

Blocks of Leave
If you ask to take a single continuous block of SPL, you will be entitled to take that leave.

If you ask to take discontinuous blocks of SPL, the University can, within two weeks of receiving the Period of Leave Notice:
- agree to the periods of SPL;
- suggest alternative dates; or
- refuse the periods of SPL.

If no agreement is reached within the two week period, you can withdraw the Period of Leave Notice or take the total amount of leave requested as a single period of SPL. Where in response you decide to take a single period of SPL, you have five days to notify the University of the start and end dates of your SPL. If you do not do so, the start date requested for the period of discontinuous leave will apply as the default start date. The start date must not be less than eight weeks from the date of your original request.

Contact during shared parental leave
The University recommends that your line manager maintains reasonably regular contact with you during your shared parental leave, unless you advise them otherwise. This may be to discuss your plans for return to work, to discuss any special arrangements to be made or training to be given to ease your return to work or simply to update you on developments at work during your absence. You and your manager should discuss in advance of you going on shared parental leave what reasonably regular contact will mean in practice.

SPL Keeping-in-touch days
You can agree to work for the University (or to attend training) for up to 20 days during SPL without that work bringing the period of SPL to an end and without loss of a week’s SPP. These are known as ‘SPL in-touch’ (SPLIT) days. Any work carried out on any one day is classed as a SPLIT day's work for these purposes.

The University has no obligation to require you to carry out any work, and you have no obligation to undertake any work, during SPL. Any work undertaken is entirely a matter for agreement between the University and you. Salary for work undertaken on any SPLIT day would normally be paid at your normal contractual hourly rate for the number of hours worked. Any SPLIT days worked do not extend the period of SPL.

Note: we will pay you your usual contractual rate of pay for the hours you work on any SPLIT day. Any day on which work is done during shared parental leave will count as a whole SPLIT day; so if you came in for a 2-hour meeting or half-day training session, for example, that would still count as one SPLIT day.

Returning to work
The University expects you to return to work on the date notified to it in your Period of Leave Notice. If you want to end a period of SPL early or extend it further, you must give the University at least eight weeks’ written notice of the new return date. If you fail to do so, the University may postpone your return to such a date as will give the University eight weeks’ notice, provided that this is not later than the original return date. If you have already given three Period of Leave Notices, you will not be able to reduce or extend your SPL without the University’s agreement.

If you are unable to attend work at the end of your SPL due to sickness or injury, the University’s normal arrangements for sickness absence will apply. In any other case, late return without prior authorisation will be treated as unauthorised absence.

If you decide not to return to work after SPL, you must give notice of resignation as soon as possible and in accordance with the notice period in your contract of employment. If the notice period would expire after SPL has ended, the University may require you to return to work for the remainder of the notice period.

Coaching
The Organisational Development team within HRD offers coaching to staff who are about to go on or are returning from shared parental leave.

The aim is to provide additional support to you through this important time; for example, you may have concerns about how you can juggle your career aspirations with your parental responsibility and coaching can help you work through some of these issues, ensuring your transition back to work is as smooth as possible.

If you would like to find out more about coaching or meet with one of our experienced coaches from across the University, please contact organisational.development@hw.ac.uk or call 0131 451 3491

Flexible Working
If you wish to change or reduce your current working pattern or hours, you may apply under the Flexible Working Policy which may be found here: Flexible Working Policy 2015
