

Home Use Rights Acknowledgement Form

Under the terms of our licence agreement for NVivo software, staff and students of Heriot-Watt University are allowed to install one copy of the software on their own computer for personal use.

The licence states that

“Users are allowed to use the licence products off campus on computers owned by either the licence institution or themselves. However, such use and distribution of the products remains governed standard terms and conditions of the agreement and any user using the products must have signed a copy of home use rights acknowledgement form of the agreement, or similar generic document provided by the licence institution, to say that they have been informed of, and will abide by, the obligations therein”

The Annex to the Chest Licence terms and conditions, states that the Home User agrees:

1. to adhere to the terms and conditions of this Annex and/or such other terms and conditions that the Licensor may require
2. to use the Software for Home Use only
3. not to receive any payment, consideration or concession of any kind from Home Use nor to use the Software for any commercial purpose
4. not to sell, resell, sublicense, lease, rent, hire, loan or transfer the Software or make it available to any other person or party
5. not to remove, obscure or modify copyright notices, disclaimers, text or means of identification appearing in the Software
6. not to alter, adapt, modify, disassemble, decompile, reverse engineer or create any derivative works of the Software except to the extent necessary to make it readable on a computer screen, or as otherwise permitted by law
7. that the Software is made available “as is” without warranty, except for any statutory warranty that may not be excluded by law
8. that no support is available for Home Use from the Licensor
9. to co-operate as required by the Licensee and/or the Licensor, at any reasonable time and subject to reasonable notice, in order to demonstrate compliance with these undertakings
10. that these undertakings are given to the Licensee and Licensor, either or both of whom may enforce the same.
