INTRODUCTION

The primary purposes of the University are the advancement and application of knowledge and the education of its students; its central activities are teaching, learning and research. These purposes can be achieved only if the members of the University community can live and work together in conditions which permit freedom of thought and expression within a framework of respect. To achieve and maintain such conditions, and to ensure academic standards, there are structures and procedures in place ensuring that the necessary steps can be taken where behaviour falls short of that expected from students.

The academic integrity of the vast majority of the University's students is exemplary. Nevertheless, unacceptable behaviour can happen, so the University has a Student Misconduct Policies that applies to all students at the University irrespective of their mode or place of study.

The Student Academic Misconduct Policy protects the University and its community, deterring those who interfere with its work and activities, and ensures that where necessary, appropriate sanctions can be imposed. Students explicitly agree to abide by the University's Ordinances, Regulations, Policies, Procedures, and Rules when they enrol. The policies and procedures of the University apply to all students who enrol at Heriot-Watt University, regardless of their campus location, or mode of study (for example at an Approved Learning Partner (ALP), Graduate Apprenticeship (GA), by HW Online or Distance learning). Students are expected to make themselves familiar with the policies that apply to them. The Policies are available at the HWU Policy Bank.

The Senate is responsible for regulating the discipline of students at the University. This is achieved through policies which provide rigorous, fair, transparent, and consistent processes for investigating and considering reported incidents involving alleged academic misconduct and for imposing penalties where appropriate. The Student Academic Misconduct Policy (hereinafter referred to as the Policy) outlines specific responsibilities and actions for appropriate members of staff of the University and appropriate bodies investigating alleged academic misconduct offences and applying disciplinary penalties.

Purpose

The purpose of the Policy is to regulate student behaviour to secure the proper working of the University in the broadest sense. In support of this goal, students are expected always conduct themselves at all times in a manner which:

- i) Demonstrates respect for staff, fellow students, and University property;
- ii) Enhances the reputation of the University;
- iii) Is sensitive to culturally diverse environments;
- iv) Demonstrates active engagement in the learning process, a commitment to University-level study, and determination to succeed.

The Policy means that:

- i) Students can be assured that any instances involving alleged academic misconduct will be investigated and considered under robust, consistent, fair, and transparent procedures and decision-making processes;
- ii) Academic and professional services staff of the University can be assured that procedures are in place to deal with instances when students do not abide by the University's Ordinances, Regulations, Policies, Procedures, Rules and expectations, and that appropriate action will be taken where required.

Objective

The objective of the Policy is to:

- i) Deal with academic misconduct offences in a way which is proportionate to their severity;
- ii) Make provision for informality and flexibility in proceedings so that matters can be considered at the Primary Academic Unit at an early stage where appropriate;
- iii) Ensure, as far as possible, that all parties involved are on an equal footing procedurally and able to participate fully in proceedings;
- iv) Avoid delay as far as is compatible with fairness and the proper consideration of the matters involved.

This Policy recognises that the seriousness of academic misconduct varies and sets out a two-layer approach (refer to Section 4 for details) to dealing with academic misconduct depending on the seriousness of the conduct. The Policy provides a framework to ensure that academic standards and expectations are met and defines a framework of penalties which may be imposed for substantiated academic misconduct that are appropriate, proportionate and consistent.

The University embraces a positive attitude towards the promotion of equality and diversity. The Student Academic Misconduct Policy applies equally to all students irrespective of colour, age, disability, ethnic origin, gender, marital status, civil partnership, nationality, race, religion, or sexual orientation.

The Policy applies to all students at the University. However, with regard to students at the University studying at Heriot-Watt University Malaysia, the Registrar General Malaysia may issue directions from time to time under Section 46 of the Private Higher Educational Institution Act 1996 [Act 555].

All disciplinary cases, investigations, communications and meetings will normally be conducted in English. Any exceptions will require the written approval of the Chair of the University Discipline Committee prior to any investigation being undertaken.

1. DEFINITIONS AND TERMINOLOGIES

- 1.1 This section outlines the definitions and terminologies used in this policy. These definitions will be used as the agreed Heriot-Watt University (HWU) approach to academic misconduct.
- 1.2 The University defines academic misconduct as any action or attempted action that may result in a student or group of students obtaining an unfair academic advantage in formal University assessment, or any activity likely to undermine the integral essential to scholarship and research. Academic misconduct includes ethical misconduct and includes any attempt to gain an unfair advantage in an academic assessment (all assessments are included, for example, examinations, class tests, essays, coursework, dissertations, research projects, reports, etc.). All reported allegations of academic misconduct are taken seriously and may lead to disciplinary action. Academic misconduct is regarded as a breach of University Regulations and where proven will result in penalties being imposed (as described below).
- 1.3 For the purposes of the University's academic misconduct policy:
 - Plagiarism constitutes one form of academic misconduct. Plagiarism is defined as the presentation, by a student, of work for assessment that draws from another source without acknowledgement of that source.
 - Plagiarism may take different forms, such as:
 - Copying and pasting parts or all of resources, digital or otherwise, without clear acknowledgement.
 - Visual plagiarism: A 'like for like' copying of the sum of a design or creative process; or adjusting or adapting another person's work, where significant original similarity, elements or attributes remain that can definitely be attributed to the original work.
 - Verbatim (word-for-word) quotation without clear acknowledgement. This includes word-for-word translation from non-English resources to English.
 - Inappropriate paraphrasing.
 - Inaccurate citation.

- Self-plagiarism, in which a student resubmits work that they originally completed and submitted for another purpose, without acknowledgment of this. This is regarded as academic misconduct (unless resubmission was permitted).
- Collusion, involving unauthorised collaboration between students, where the answers presented by a single student are actually the work of more than one student. Note that this does not apply where group work has been specifically requested by the course leader(s).

1.4 Other examples of academic misconduct include but are not limited to the following:

- Purchasing or soliciting Material/Work Undertaken by Others and Presenting as Own Work: the use of services to produce student work for assessment (such services may try to persuade students that this is entirely normal and acceptable practice, when in fact it is misconduct).
- Selling Material: Selling or offering to sell, by whatever means, material or using other inducements, to assist a student in producing work for assessment.
- Falsifying Data: presenting data based on work which a student claims to have carried out but which they have invented or obtained by unfair means.
- Falsify references: Purposely presenting false and inaccurate references and citations.
- Examination Misconduct: unauthorised materials being in the vicinity of a student during an examination or the use of such materials, the use of electronic devices not permitted during an examination, or any other conduct not permitted under the University's Regulations, Policies, and Procedures on examinations.
- Dishonest Practice: this covers any form of practice which attempts to deceive others, or obtain any form of academic advantage, but is not specifically identified by the above.
- Contract Cheating: Heriot-Watt University shares the same definition as what Quality Assurance Agency \(QAA\) defines as:
“Contract cheating happens when a third party completes work for a student who then submits it to an education provider as their own, where such input is not permitted. Over the last decade, an industry has developed where companies, based in the UK or overseas, are paid to undertake this work. These companies have become known as ‘essay mills’, although many supply a range of services in addition to essay writing. Typically, the essay mill will outsource the commissioned work to individual writers engaged on an ad hoc basis. The term ‘contract cheating’ does not apply exclusively to essay mills. It can, for example, also refer to situations such as friends or family members completing assignments for students in whole or in part and does not always involve a financial relationship”. For more details, refer to this document on the University policy bank website.

Terminology	Definition
Component	Any part of the assessment that has been referred to discipline committees. Academic misconduct proven in a component (part or whole of an assessed piece of work), in some instances, regardless of the percentage, may result in the overall course for that semester being reported as Invalid Grade, and the reassessment of that component will be added to the other elements of the course assessment(s) at the reassessment diet only.
Invalid Grade (IG)	Course result of ‘IG’ will be added to a student’s record by the relevant Registry and Academic Support team only when it has been determined by the relevant Discipline Committee that an entire course is void. The result of ‘IG’ remains permanently on a student’s transcript.
Investigation Pending (IP)	Course result of ‘IP’ will be added to a student’s record by the relevant Registry and Academic Support team to any course being investigated for suspected academic misconduct. The result of ‘IP’ will be updated by the relevant Registry and Academic Support team following the completion of the relevant Discipline Committee’s investigation, i.e., on receipt of the formal outcome letter issued by the University Student Conduct Office.
Offence	A case of academic misconduct will be referred to as an offence.
Stage	The various levels/progression points within a programme and the year in which a student is enrolled.
Void	The penalty is providing no credit for the submitted work, e.g., a component of a coursework or an examination that is under disciplinary investigation. This means the student will get zero for that component. Depending on the severity of a case, the committee may impose the voiding of one or more than one course as penalty. As such, the student who receives this penalty will not receive any marks for those courses, i.e., will receive an invalid grade (IG) for those courses. As a result, the student will not be able to get credit for the course since they did not pass it. If the student has exhausted their opportunities, voiding a course means they may not be able to graduate from the programme in which they enrolled.

2. DESCRIPTION AND INTRODUCTION

- 2.1 The Senate is responsible for regulating the discipline of students at the University. Regulation A13: Student Discipline (hereinafter referred to as Regulation A13) sets out the provisions for regulating student discipline. Any actions under the disciplinary procedures are undertaken on behalf of the Senate under a structure and system of delegated authority.

Students are expected to make themselves familiar with the Policy that applies to them. The Policies are available at the HWU Policy Bank.

- 2.2 Regulation A13 makes provision for the Policies for regulating student discipline.
- 2.3 A member of staff who reports the incident, or was involved in marking of the assessment, or is the Course Leader, or where there are any other conflicts of interest, will have no input in the decision-making of the alleged academic misconduct offence.
- 2.4 If a staff member ruling in accordance with the Policies is unable to act for any reason a member of the staff shall be nominated to deputise. The member of staff nominated to deputise shall be nominated by the person for whom they are deputising or by that person's line manager. A member of staff nominated to deputise shall not be permitted to nominate a member of staff to deputise on their behalf. If a member of staff required to make a decision in accordance with the Policies is unable to act for the reason set out in Paragraph 2.3, the University Discipline Committee shall approve a member of the staff to deputise.
- 2.5 These Policies apply to all students at the University. However, with regard to students at the University studying at Heriot-Watt University Malaysia, the Registrar General Malaysia may issue directions from time to time under Section 46 of the Private Higher Educational Institution Act 1996 [Act 555].
- 2.6 The Senate reserves the right to add to or amend the Regulations and Policies as it deems appropriate and with immediate effect. Such amendments will be publicised on the University website.
- 2.7 The University Discipline Committee will oversee the processes outlined in this Policy and, acting with the delegated authority of the Senate and in consultation with relevant staff, shall be responsible for approving the nominated members of staff, who, in addition to those specified in the Policy, shall investigate, and consider alleged cases of academic misconduct.
- 2.8 All communications with a student will be sent to the most recent correspondence address held on the student record system and/or to the student's University email address.
- 2.9 Standard of Proof:
In considering alleged academic misconduct disciplinary offences, the standard of proof required is that it is more likely than not that something is or is not the case (the 'balance of probability', or civil justice) rather than 'beyond all reasonable doubt' (as in criminal justice).
- 2.10 The definitions and categories of academic misconduct are set out in Sections 1 and 4.
- 2.11 The composition of the committees established to consider disciplinary matters is set out in Regulation A13.
- 2.12 In all disciplinary cases, the rules of natural justice (the right to a fair hearing) shall be observed.
- 2.13 A student against whom an allegation has been made under the Policy may seek the assistance of a third-party. The University will only deal with a third-party providing assistance to a student where there is written and signed authorisation by the student to allow this to happen. The student remains the responsible person with respect to any allegation under consideration. The student is not permitted to appoint someone to act on his or her behalf.
- 2.14 In accordance with existing University and sector-wide practice, students do not have the right to legal representation under the Policy.

- 2.15 A student against whom an allegation has been made may wish to contact the Student Union Advice Hub to seek advice, support, and assistance. If such assistance is sought it remains the responsibility of the student to prepare and submit any evidence or statement for consideration and to liaise directly with the relevant member of staff or body.
- 2.16 The University monitors and evaluates the effectiveness of its student academic misconduct policy to ensure that penalties are fair and functioning as intended and to consider the types of cases being identified. An anonymous summary of cases and their outcomes is reported to the Senate on an annual basis.
- 2.17 For breaches of Research Integrity, these will initially be considered under the Research Integrity Procedures. Those procedures do not form part of the Student Academic Misconduct Policy and are concerned with the handling and investigation of allegations of research misconduct. Where an allegation of research misconduct is upheld, action(s) may be taken under those Policies and Procedures to safeguard research integrity. However, where disciplinary action(s) are appropriate, procedures will be initiated under the Student Academic Misconduct Policy.

3. DEFINITIONS OF ACADEMIC MISCONDUCT

- 3.1 The University defines academic misconduct as any action or attempted action that may result in a student or group of students obtaining an unfair academic advantage in formal University assessment, or any activity likely to undermine the integral essential to scholarship and research. Academic misconduct includes ethical misconduct and includes any attempt to gain an unfair advantage in an academic assessment (all assessments are included, for example, examinations, class tests, essays, coursework, dissertations, research projects, reports, etc.). All reported allegations of academic misconduct are taken seriously and may lead to disciplinary action.
- 3.2 Academic misconduct is regarded as a breach of University Regulations and where proven will result in penalties being imposed (as described below).
- 3.3 Any attempt by a student to gain an unfair advantage in any type of assessment, including examinations will be regarded as a breach of Academic Integrity. The University will not accept academic misconduct in any form and the seriousness with which cheating is viewed will be reflected in the penalties which are imposed.
- 3.4 Any student who knowingly permits another student to plagiarise their work will be regarded as having breached the University's disciplinary procedures.
- 3.5 The University recognises the benefits of discussion of assignments requiring a group response; such activities are normal in any academic community. The offence of plagiarism takes place when, having had the opportunity of advice and guidance, a student submits work which they know contains matter taken from other sources and for which no attribution is given according to the conventions normally adopted in academic writing. Assessment guidelines will provide students with instructions as to what is acceptable and authorised and what is not in group assessments. Unless stated otherwise in the assessment guidelines, the University considers that all members of the group are equally responsible for the submitted assessment.
- 3.6 Guidance on how to avoid plagiarism will be provided for students as part of their induction to all programmes and throughout their studies. All students will be required to undertake a mandatory online self-paced short course on academic integrity before they can submit their first assessment.
- 3.7 The University academics usually can make a clear judgement if something has been copied from hard copy sources. The University however reserves the right to utilise electronic plagiarism and similarity detection and checker systems. The use of these systems allows the student and the University to check systematically for plagiarism, thus ensuring that all students' work is original. These systems search the World Wide Web and extensive databases of reference material and content submitted by others to identify any duplication of submitted work.
- 3.8 Any student who during any part of the assessment process copies, steals, or appropriates the work of another, or who introduces into an examination room any materials or other aids not explicitly permitted under the rubric of the examination, or who uses other unfair methods to gain an advantage in an assessment, will be deemed guilty of academic misconduct. This applies to all work submitted as part of the assessment process, in whatever year, and whether produced under formal examination conditions or as part of a programme of continuous assessment. Any student who knowingly assists others in this process will also be regarded as being guilty of academic misconduct.

- 3.9 With respect to students following a programme offered by the University at a partner institution, in the case of alleged academic misconduct relating to a University award, the case must be dealt with by the University.

4. CATEGORIES OF DISCIPLINARY OFFENCES

- 4.1 Offences are categorised below:

- Academic Misconduct is subdivided as Category A or Category B offences based on the apparent gravity of the offence and the penalty that could be imposed if an allegation is substantiated.

Category B offences are those where the penalty will not affect the student's progression in their degree, and the offence is for the first time or of a relatively minor nature. Alleged offences that meet the circumstances listed below may be classified as Category A offences:

- i) A repeat of a previous offence.
- ii) Where the penalty to be imposed might require a student to withdraw from the University.
- iii) In the case of any student other than a postgraduate student, where an allegation has been considered as a Category B offence, and where the penalty proposed might alter the final award.
- iv) In the case of a postgraduate student, when an allegation has been considered as a Category B offence and because of the penalty imposed there would be no opportunity for the student to complete the programme of study due to the proposed penalty to be imposed.
- v) Contract Cheating allegations.
- vi) Inappropriate and unethical usage of Large Language Modules (LLMs) and any artificial intelligence technology.

- 4.2 The University shall have the right to investigate any allegation of academic misconduct against a student and may take disciplinary action where it decides, on the balance of probabilities, that a disciplinary offence (as defined above) has been committed.

- 4.3 The Procedures and responsibility for the initial consideration of cases in determining the classification of the offence are set out in a separate Procedures document. It is the duty of every member of staff, in whose opinion a breach of discipline may have occurred, to report the incident as soon as possible to the relevant staff member with responsibility for considering the allegation and University Student Conduct Office.

- 4.4 Based upon the nature of the incident, responsibility for the consideration of cases in determining the categorisation of an alleged offence is summarised below:

- All reports and paperwork must be sent to the University Student Conduct Office (USCO). The USCO will log the report and allegation and arrange for the case to be discussed with the Chair of the School Discipline Committee to which the course resides.
- The Executive Dean of the School in which the course resides will appoint a Chair of the School Discipline Committee, who will be a member of the academic staff in the School with appropriate experience for the purpose of the procedures. The School Discipline Committee must have at least two academic members of staff to be quorate. No member of staff determining the outcome of an alleged academic misconduct will have had any involvement in the case prior to the referral to the Committee (e.g., delivery of the course, marking of the assessment, personal tutor of the student(s), etc.).
- The School for which the course resides will conduct the academic misconduct investigation and determine an appropriate penalty. The home School will be informed of the outcome via the outcome letter as well as the Chair of the School Discipline Committee. Where required, the Graduation Office will be informed of the outcome (see Section 4.15 below)

- 4.5 Any member of staff reporting a case of alleged academic misconduct should submit an Incident Report Form to the University Student Conduct Office. Incident Report Forms are available at the University Student Conduct Office SharePoint. A written record should be maintained of meetings held with students involved in cases of alleged academic misconduct. Any documentation on a matter of alleged academic misconduct, including letters, emails, photographs, or reports, may need to be disclosed to relevant parties during the consideration of a case of alleged academic misconduct and, therefore, should be factual and balanced. All records of individual cases should be retained in accordance with the University Records Management Policy.

In cases of alleged academic misconduct, an Incident Report Form must be used, and all required evidence and documentation must be included with the submission. More details are provided in the Procedures document, but examples of general evidence and documentation are as follows:

- a copy of the coursework guidelines and assessment criteria issued to students.
- any relevant guidance issued to students that you feel may be useful, such as screenshots of links to referencing guidance provided on the Virtual Learning Environment (VLE) pages, such as Canvas, or class activities on avoiding academic misconduct.
- a copy of the email informing students of the allegation.
- Plagiarism: the student's work showing plagiarised material; the Turnitin report; copies of sources of material allegedly plagiarised, where available.
- Examination Misconduct: examination script(s); confiscated material; Examination Report Form from the invigilator.
- Collusion: copy of student's works showing relevant material; work alleged to have been copied, relevant pages of the Student Handbook.

Original evidence should be submitted. All evidence submitted should be clearly referenced with relevant extracts marked up appropriately. Additional evidence may be sought at any stage during the process of consideration of an alleged breach of discipline.

Where more than one student is alleged to have committed the same reported offence, for example, collusion, the evidence of each of the alleged offenders will be disclosed to all parties, unless deemed not appropriate by the Chair of the relevant Discipline Committee or the University Student Conduct Office.

For the reported alleged academic misconduct cases where more than one student is reported, all evidence will be redacted or edited as necessary prior to sharing with other students, in compliance with the University's Data Protection Policy.

- 4.6 Work in which alleged academic misconduct has been identified should be withdrawn from the assessment process until any investigation into alleged academic misconduct has been concluded. A student should be informed that this has occurred by the course leader.
- 4.7 When an examination irregularity occurs, the student must hand over to the invigilator any unauthorised material and will normally be permitted to continue with the examination. The invigilator will retain the confiscated material at the conclusion of the examination and return it to the Academic Registry with the Examination Report Form. The Invigilator's Handbook contains guidance for invigilators on the procedures to follow in the event of an examination irregularity.
- 4.8 Any student against whom an allegation is being made will be informed if a case is being submitted for consideration by an appropriate member of staff of the University (e.g., Course/Programme Leader). Such a student should fully co-operate with the University during the investigation of an allegation of academic misconduct and should be prepared to attend meetings if required in connection with the investigation into allegations of misconduct.
- 4.9 A student undertaking a programme of study at an Approved Learning Partner, collaborative partner, or other recognised partner institution or organisation, or by distance learning or HW Online learning, is expected to be available for interview, if required, by means of University's approved teleconferencing platform.
- 4.10 A preliminary review of an alleged academic misconduct offence shall be carried out by the relevant member of staff as outlined in the Student Academic Misconduct Procedures, as soon as possible. The relevant member of staff will either:

- Dismiss the allegation; in this case, the allegation must first be discussed with the Chair of School Discipline Committee and the dismissal decision to be approved by the Chair and confirmed by the University Conduct Office.
 - Refer the allegation to the University Student Conduct Office to be considered by the relevant Discipline Committee.
- 4.11 If the member of staff believes that the student(s) should be suspended whilst an investigation is carried out, they are required to discuss this with the Chair of School Discipline Committee who shall make such a recommendation through University Student Conduct Office to the Chair/Vice-Chair of the University Discipline Committee. Such a suspension should only be imposed if it is considered in the best interests of the University, its staff or students, or the student concerned, or is necessary to ensure an effective investigation.
- 4.12 If a written statement is requested as part of a disciplinary process and is not received within the requested submission deadline (normally five working days), consideration of the case may proceed in the absence of such a statement.
- 4.13 For allegations for academic misconduct that are considered to Category B offences, and where the student has been requested to provide a written statement in advance, the School Discipline Committee shall determine whether the meeting to investigate the claims requires the attendance of the student. In such cases where the School Discipline Committee determines that the student presence is not required, the student will be informed.
- 4.14 A student who has alleged to have committed an act of academic misconduct considered to be a Category A offence and is required to attend a meeting of the University Discipline Committee, will normally be given a minimum of ten working days notice of the meeting. However, in exceptional circumstances, the University Discipline Committee may reduce this timeframe in order to investigate the allegation more promptly.
- 4.15 A student who has alleged to have committed an act of academic misconduct considered to be a Category B offence, and is required to attend a meeting of the School Discipline Committee, will normally be given a minimum of five working days notice of the meeting. However, in exceptional circumstances, the School Discipline Committee may reduce this timeframe in order to investigate the allegation more promptly.
- 4.16 Penalties imposed that include voiding a course or part thereof, and allowing reassessment in the course, will require a student to pay the relevant reassessment fee. When a course is voided, any further reassessment will be classed as the subsequent opportunity.
- 4.17 Tariffs of penalties for academic misconduct are detailed in Sections 5 and 9. They provide a point of reference for appropriate staff and bodies with responsibility for imposing penalties and show recommended penalties based upon the circumstances presented.
- 4.18 Where an academic misconduct allegation is identified near the time of a student's graduation, they will not be entitled to receive their award until their case is resolved. A graduation hold will be placed on their record. Even if the case is concluded in advance of the next available graduation ceremony, their graduation is likely to be postponed to a subsequent ceremony to allow time for the necessary academic and administrative processes to be carried out.
- 4.19 Offences of an academic nature identified following graduation and involving academic misconduct in academic work which contributed towards a University award will be considered under the University's Student Academic Misconduct Policy. In such cases even if they have graduated the term 'student' in the Policies shall mean the person against whom an allegation is being made.

5. PENALTIES

5.1 A list of penalties and their relevance to Category A and B offences are set out below and are indicative of the types of penalties which may be applied; other forms of penalty may also be considered where these are deemed to be more appropriate.

5.2 A student who is deemed to be in breach of discipline may be liable to one or more of the following penalties:

- An official written warning (for Category A or Category B offence).
- Exclusion, suspension, or disqualification from examinations (for Category A or Category B offence).
- Where an offence could have resulted in an improvement in academic performance, reduction in marks/grades awarded in one or more of the assessments, with re-assessment as a further opportunity. The mark for any reassessments may be capped (for Category A or Category B offence).
- Where an offence could have resulted in an improvement in academic performance, annulment (voiding) of one or more of the assessments, with re-assessment as a further opportunity. The mark for any reassessments may be capped (for Category A or Category B offence).
- Where an offence could have resulted in an improvement in academic performance, annulment (voiding) of one or more of the assessments, with no reassessment opportunity (for Category A or Category B offence).
- Where an offence could have resulted in an improvement in academic performance, a reduction in classification of degree to be awarded (for Category A or Category B offence).
- Revocation of an award, having determined that there is good cause to do so (Category A offence). Revocation of an award also includes the deprivation of all privileges connected with the award.
- Expulsion from the University (for Category A offence).

6. RECORDS AND REPORTS

6.1 Full notes should be taken of all proceedings and the University Student Conduct Office have the responsibility for recording proceedings and retaining all records.

6.2 With regard to the nature of reports on proceedings, the following should be observed:

- Reports should be sufficiently full to reflect the reasoning by which conclusions and recommendations have been reached;
- Reports should be sufficiently comprehensive to allow the appropriate member of staff or Committee, depending upon the stage of appeal, to use them as a basis for any further review of a case;
- Reports should be compiled with all due regard for confidentiality.

6.3 The Clerk to a committee must ensure that minutes and reports on meetings of a committee are agreed upon by the Chair of the Committee.

6.4 All records of individual cases should be retained in accordance with the University Records Management Policy.

6.5 An annual report on discipline cases considered under the Policies will be submitted by the University Discipline Committee to the Senate.

7. MODIFICATION OF POLICIES

7.1 Any modifications made to these Policies will be made in accordance with Regulation A13.

9. TARIFF OF PENALTIES: THE TARIFF OF PENALTIES PROVIDES EXAMPLES OF PENALTIES THAT MAY BE IMPOSED FOR PARTICULAR OFFENCES.

Appendix One summarises the different forms of academic misconduct and categories that Heriot-Watt University recognises, along with the suggested tariff of penalties. Other academic misconduct types not specifically mentioned in the following tables (e.g., dishonest practice) will follow comparable tariffs.

The outcome of any disciplinary investigation will be made by the relevant Discipline Committee (School level or University level), based on the evidence submitted by academics and/or students and the severity of cases, in line with the tariff of penalties tables provided in this policy.

POLICY VERSIONS AND STATUS

Version No	Brief Description of status
V1 June 2023	Student Academic Misconduct Policy (September 2023)

APPENDIX ONE:

9.1 Table of tariff for different academic misconduct types

The relevant Discipline Committee will follow Table 9.1 when determining an outcome for forms of plagiarism (as listed in Section 1):

	Formal Warning	Void the component ^{1,2,3}	Void the entire course ⁴	Void the entire course and one other ⁵
Stage 1 – first offence	X	X	X
Other UG Stages – first offence		X	X	X
All PGT– first offence	X	X	X
All UG Stages and PGT – repeat offence			X	X

Notes:

² When a component is void the common practice will be to apply a cap of marks to the overall course mark. However, the relevant Committee can, under exceptional circumstances, choose not to apply a cap of the overall course mark.

⁵ In the case of voiding of more than one course, the additional course to be voided will normally be the highest mark of the student in the same semester. There are, however, situations that this is not applicable, e.g., programme structure changes, timing of the disciplinary investigation, or the highest mark is from the other semester.

- Any resubmitted work because of a disciplinary penalty, is always subject to cap of the mark for the component or the course at an appropriate pass mark, i.e., 40% or 50% (for mainly postgraduate taught students).
- If the voided course is synoptic, all linked synoptic courses will be voided.
- All imposed penalties are at the discretion of the relevant Committee.
- University Discipline Committee for very serious academic misconduct allegation cases, can impose a “No further assessment permitted” penalty.

9.2 Contract Cheating

The relevant Discipline Committee will follow Table 9.2 when determining an outcome for forms of Contract Cheating (as listed in Section 1):

	School Discipline Committee (Category B)		University Discipline Committee Decision only (Category A):
	Void the entire course May permit reassessment at next available opportunity ¹ for the course. (mark will be capped)	Void the entire course and one other May permit reassessment at next available opportunity ¹ for the courses. (mark will be capped)	No further assessment permitted ² . [This may result in student being required to withdraw from the University with a different award to the one for which they were studying or with no award]
Stage 1 or 2 (direct entry) – first offence	X	X
PGT Year 1, Semester 1 – first offence	X	X
Other UG stages (including projects and dissertations) – first offence		X	X
Other PGT stages – first offence		X	X
All PGT and UG Stages - Repeat or Multiple offences Notes: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> This applies to students who have previously been cited for Contract Cheating, regardless of when the previous offence occurred. Applies to students where two or more offences have occurred in the same semester, regardless of whether the first offence investigation has, or has not, been completed. 		X
Notes: ¹ Students should note this could be in a subsequent academic year, and therefore could result in a break in study, and a significant delay in progressing and graduating. Students should be aware that ‘capped’ mark could affect a year average, which may indirectly affect their progression and degree classification. ² University Discipline Committee, may impose further penalties to those listed under Category B. The University may allow reassessment for less severe offences but will not permit for major offences of contract cheating. If one of the courses is a dissertation, the other course to void can be any taught course(s) from September or January semester courses (usually the course with the highest mark).

9.3 Examination Irregularities

The relevant Discipline Committee will follow Table 9.3 when determining an outcome for forms of exam irregularities (as listed in Section 1):

Penalties	Formal Warning	Void the component	Void the Course	Void the Course and another	No further assessment permitted
Reason: Minor Breach of Regulations relating to examinations (e.g., in possession of mobile telephone during an examination with no evidence of use of unauthorised devices such as phone or smart devices)	X	X	X
Reason: Major Breach of Regulations relating to examinations (e.g., communicating with another individual during an examination; unauthorised material found in an examination whether evidence or not of use)			X	X	X
Note: The examples of offences and penalties given above are a guide and it is expected that Schools and the University Discipline Committee will apply the relevant penalty for an offence which has been proven. Under appropriate circumstances other penalties may be applied where they can be justified and where, in the case of Category B offences, if required, approval of the Dean is given. For minor breaches like unauthorised material brought to the examination, but there is evidence that the unauthorised material was not used, a combination of above penalties, such as returning for marking (i.e., formal warning), but capping the course or exam mark at pass mark can be imposed.
